DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure which is not enabling. The method of replacing a strong predictor following a weak predictor with a weak predictor in an encoding method using a strong and weak predictors is critical or essential to the practice of the invention, and how this is accomplished is not included in the claims, but not included in the claim(s) is not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976). It is not clear from the claim language, why or how this is accomplished. Also when the applicant claims replacing, "replace" to do what is not clear. Also, the method of replacing a strong predictor with a weak predictor is not being recited. In other words the recited claim language is missing an essential step.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 2654

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is not clear from the claim language, when the step "(a) said step (a) of claim 1 replaces a second successive strong predictor with a corresponding second weak predictor" happens, or how it happens, since claim 1 does set forth any step in the method of replacing a strong predictor following a weak predictor with a weak predictor.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claim 1-4 are is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McCree (5,966,689).

As per claims 1 - 4, McCree teaches an encoding system using strong and weak predictors, comprising the step of: replace a strong predictor following a weak predictor with a weak predictor using pitch harmonics in a given range, (Col., line 21 – Col.6, line 48).

As per claim 2, McCree teaches strong predictor and weak predictor predict the Fourier coefficients for the pitch harmonics (figures 4a –4d).

As per claim 3, McCree teaches ranges for a strong predictor and a weak predictor (Col.4, lines 4-60, Col.5, lines 38-65).

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 11/26/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

8. Applicant's arguments fail to comply with 37 CFR 1.111(b) because they amount to a general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references.

9. Applicant's arguments do not comply with 37 CFR 1.111(c) because they do not clearly point out the patentable novelty which he or she thinks the claims present in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. Further, they do not show how the amendments avoid such references or objections. In response to Applicant's argument that McCree reference has no indication of strong and weak predictors, the law of anticipation requires that a distinction be made between the invention described or taught and the invention claimed. It does not require that the reference "teach" what the subject patent teaches. Assuming that a reference is properly "prior art," it is only necessary that the claims under consideration "read on" something disclosed in the reference, i.e., all limitations of the claim are found in the reference, or "fully met" by it. Kalman v. Kimberly-Clark Corp., 218 USPQ 789.

Conclusion

10. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
